

INDIGENOUS PEOPLES: PROTECTING RIGHTS, RESOURCES, AND TERRITORIES ACROSS THE AMAZON

Join Amazon Conservation and Forest Trends and hear directly from indigenous peoples and conservation experts from Brazil, Bolivia, Peru, and Ecuador as we explore how indigenous peoples are employing technology to support their territorial governance and leveraging the key role they play for climate and conservation, and their continued need for direct donor financing to support these crucial efforts.

AGENDA

Tuesday, March 21, 2023

Time: 2:00 -3:30 p.m. EST

bit.ly/indigenousppls-webinar

TIME	TOPIC	PRESENTERS
2:00 - 2:02 p.m.	General Welcome and Event Introduction	John Beavers, Executive Director, Amazon Conservation
2:02 - 2:09 p.m.	Opening Remarks	Gilberto Mincaye Nenquimo, President, Waorani Nationality of Ecuador
2:09 - 2:13 p.m.	Framing and Facilitation	Meryl Cohen, Program Director, Amazon Conservation
2:13 - 2:53 p.m.	Local Experiences in Protecting Indigenous Territories	Peru Alfredo Vargas Pio, President of the Executive Council, FENAMAD Julio Cusirichi Palacios, Former President of the Executive Council, FENAMAD Pepe Torres Mayorga, Coordinator of "Veeduría" Program, FENAMAD Bolivia Kareen Cartagena, Monitoring Specialist, TCO Tacana 1 Ecuador Marco Martinez, Territorial Executive of the Shuar Arutam Brazil Maial Kaiapó, Kayapó Indigenous Community Member Igor Ferreira, GIS Director, The Kayapo Project
2:53 - 3:03 p.m.	Q&A Session	Moderated by Meryl Cohen, Program Director, Amazon Conservation
3:03 - 3:08 p.m.	Overview of the Territorial Governance Facility	Beto Borges, Director, Communities and Territorial Governance Initiative, Forest Trends
3:08 - 3:23p.m.	Technology and Governance	Importance of Territorial Management Maria DiGiano, Program Officer, Andes-Amazon Initiative, Gordon and Betty Moore Foundation What the data says: The importance of indigenous territories for conservation and fighting climate change to avoid a tipping point in the Amazon Matt Finer, MAAP Director, Amazon Conservation Applying the law with governments Humberto Balbuena, Environmental Policy and Governance Director, Conservación Amazónica - ACCA, Peru
3:23 - 3:28 p.m.	Investing in the Defense of Indigenous Territories	Michael Owen, Consultant, Indufor North America
3:28 - 3:35 p.m.	Closing Remarks	Anita Tzec, Senior Program Manager for Indigenous Peoples & Conservation, Global Program on Governance & Rights, IUCN

ORGANIZED BY:

WITH PRESENTERS FROM:

